

December 12, 2009

To Whom it May Concern

Re: Reference for White Sands Construction

This letter is being provided to serve as a reference for White Sands Construction. Our firm has had the pleasure of working with White Sands Construction on several projects, and I personally worked with them on two projects constructed from the ground up in Clovis, New Mexico during the 2005-2006 time period. Those projects were the new Civic Center for the City of Clovis, and an office building for the Farm Credit Bureau of New Mexico. The Civic Center is a 30,000 s.f. facility while the Farm Credit offices comprise 10,000 s.f. Both projects employed quality materials and the Civic Center has a full commercial kitchen so there was a level of complexity and craftsmanship needed to successfully complete these projects.

White Sands assigned strong and experienced supervisory personnel to both projects who developed a good rapport with the client, the architect, inspectors, and subcontractors. Communication was kept at a premium and the schedules were managed well with the projects being completed on time and in budget. When challenges arose, White Sands pursued the issues diligently and to a resolution that worked for all parties. Change order pricing was always fair and balanced.

After completion of the project, White Sands was responsive to the few warranty matters that did arise. Their subcontractors and their own personnel were dispatched to the facilities in a timely manner and the proper repairs were made.

Dekker/Perich/Sabatini is never disappointed when White Sands Construction wins the bid for one of our projects. We have good experiences with them and we recommend them to you.

If you have questions regarding any of the above, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

Dekker/Perich/Sabatini

A handwritten signature in blue ink that reads "Steven J. Perich".

Steven J. Perich, AIA
President

architecture

interiors

landscape

planning

engineering