

January 27, 2011

Re: Letter of Reference
White Sands Construction, Inc.

To Whom it May Concern,

I write this letter to highly recommend White Sands Construction to any prospective buyer of construction services.

My knowledge of White Sands began with the construction of the El Camino Real International Heritage Center located on a remote site between Sorrow and Truth or Consequences, New Mexico. As the Principal in Charge of the project, I visited the site on numerous occasions during the construction. The remote location presented many logistical challenges. Power, water and sewer services were not available and the three mile long access road was not paved. In addition, the design of the facility was unique, requiring extra attention to detail. White Sands completed the project on time and with excellent quality. Steve Malett, the Superintendent, and Dennis Crimmins, the Director of Operations on the project, provided excellent organizational and management skills. Their teamwork and focus on quality contributed to the success of the project, which has earned numerous design awards and serves as an important cultural monument for the citizens of New Mexico.

I commend the efforts of White Sands on this important public project. Please contact me personally at 505-761-9700, if necessary, for further information.

Sincerely,
Dekker/Perich/Sabatini

William Q. Sabatini, AIA, ACHA Principal

architecture

interior

landscape

planning

engineering