

'Ahead of Schedule'

THE ORIGINAL DIMENSIONS

– The Sierra County Courthouse's courtroom on North Date Street has been stripped of its drywall offices to the left and the low-hanging tile ceiling to reveal the historic chamber's original width and height. White Sands Construction Inc. Superintendent Norman Drew on Thursday, May 22, told The Herald the $4 million project, which includes renovations and additions to the Detention Center, is ahead of schedule. Right: block layers work on the southeastern, two-story addition to the courthouse, which includes an elevator shaft.
